SENATE ADJOURNS.

Body Concludes Session and Reviews Appropriations Made.

WASHINGTON, April 25,-With brief announcement and a sharp rap of his well worked gavel, President pro tem Frye adjourned the Senato sine die at 2 P. M. to-day, the hour fixed by resolution of the two houses of Congress, The occurrence was devoid of unusual incledent.

occurrence was devoid of unusual factorist.

The greater part of the day was devoiced to a political debate which was participated in on the Republican side by Messrs. Allison and Aldrich and on the Democratic side by Messrs. Gorman and Culberson. The President and his Cabinet occupied the President's room during a part of the debate and some of the President's advisors were among the mest interested listeners to the criticisms and defense of their chief. Mrs. Roosevelt and other members of the President's family occupied seats in the gallery towards the close of the session, and they, too, found entertniument in the proceedings.

and they, too, found entertain and proceedings.

The only important facts of legislation of the day were the presentation and acceptance of conference reports on the Panama Canal government and omergency reviews and river and harbor bills.

Notither report aroused debate.

Mr. Allison, chairman of the committee on appropriations submitted the refles of tables prepared by the clerks of the Appropriations Committee, showing an increase of $25.000,000 over the appropriation for last session, Mr. Allison said an increase of $25,000,000 over the appropriation for last session, Mr. Allison said the appropriations were in the main for the conduct of the government and he expressed the opinion that they would not be criticised.

not be criticised.

REVIEW OF APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. Culherson presented a review of appropriations for the last twelve years.
He said the total expenditures under the Roosevett administration had been $2.613.003.000 or $1,000.000 greater than during the four years of the McKinley administration and $852.000.000 greater than and $852.000.000 greater than during the four years of the McKinley administration and $852.000.000 greater than during the four years of the McKinley administration and $852.000.000 greater than during the four years of the McKinley administration and $852.000.000 greater than during the four years of the McKinley administration and $852.000.000 greater than during the four years of the McKinley administration and $852.000.0000 greater than during the four years.

the four years of the McKinley administration and $853,009,000 greater than in the four years of the Cleveland.

Mr. Gorman placed the total appropriations of this, session at $751,000,000, and the obligations incurred at over $21,000,000, or more than $800,000,000, all told, not including the appropriation for the Panama Canal. The said figures were amazing, and predicted that it would be impossible to continue expenditures at this rate, without increasing taxes.

He attributed the rapid increase to the ambition of the President to "imake of the United States a great world power," and taid that we had reaped no harvest except the loss of life and demoralization in every branch of the governmental ser-every branch of the governmental ser-wice.

Mr. Gorman referred to the increase for the support of army, and said that if the present tendency should be pursued, the army would become an instrument of tyranny. He charged that it was now being organized on the plans of the German army. He also charged that the chief reason for the building up of the army and navy was to attract the at-tention of the crowned heads of Europe. Mr. Allison characterized Mr. Culber-Mr. Allison characterized Mr. Culberson's tables as "old and worn out," as at the time covered by the tables the conditions of the country were totally different from present conditions. He combatted the statement that the expenses of the military establishment were greater than those of the European nations, saying that the pension expenditures could not properly be included in such estimates.

could not properly be included in such estimates.

Mr. Gorman said that the revenue question had been evaded because it would disturb the political atmosphere.

"Why not admit it," he asked, and added that he did not blume the Republicans for this policy because the Democrats had tried it to their sorrow.

"We do admit," responded Mr. Aldrich, "not that we fear any disturbance to the political atmosphere, but to the business atmosphere which would be cruel and wanton."

nd wanton."
Mr. Gorman predicted the election of a temografic House in November, but addited that the Republicans would conton the Senate for four years more. "Can the senator foretell what the emecrate party would do if in power?" r Aldrich asked.

Would it do, Mr. Aldrich asked as it did in 1894?

Mr. Gorman replied that but for the Supreme Court's decision on the income tax the tariff legislation of '94 would have proved adequate to meet the depands of the country and he predicted that that decision would yet rise to plague the celanity. He added that even under the discussionies the explanation had started the wheels of industry.

Republican senators generally laughed at this statement, and Mr. Aldrich replied that but for Mr. Gorman's good sense, the Democratic policy would have been carried to such an extent as to absolutely stop the wheels of industry throughout the country.

SENATE ADJOURNS.

After the adoption of a resolution of thanks to Mr. Frye, the presiding officer, the Senate adjourned.

SIGNS BILLS.

President Affixes His Signature to Several Measures.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—Roosevelt went to the Capitol to-day to at-tend to his official duties incident to the adjournment of Congress. Nearly all the members of his Cabinet had preceded him and were waiting in the President's room. At 11:25 the President affixed his signature to the last of the general sup-ply measures; to the postoffice appropriation bill.

Prior to that time he had signed the sundry civil, the general deficiency and the military academy bills, in addition to scores of measures of minor imporscores of measures of minor importance.

The last of important bills to receive the signature of the President were the river and harbor and Panama canal measures. All of the surveys which the Senate provided for in the river and harbor bill were stricken out in conference. In one of them the President has a personal interest, as it was a survey near the President's home at Cyster Bay. When he noted the fact that among the Other surveys it had been eliminated, he signed the bill and remarked jaughingly that it was pretty evident that he had no influence with the present administration.

the Order of Business in the Senate, in a published statement issued to-day, gave notice that if the nomination of W. D. notice that if the nomination of W. D. Crim to be collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., is again sent to the Senate it would be pressed to a conclusion, regardless of other business. The statement is as follows:

President Directs That Negro Again be Appointed Collector.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—The first thing President Roosevelt did this afternoon after returning from the Capi-tol to the White House after the ad-SENATE ADJOURNS.

Discussing the question of Presidents usurping the powers of Congress, which had been raised by Mr. Gorman, Mr. Aidrich said:

"I have never known a President of "I have never known a President of as the next session convenes, and that Aidrich said:
"I have never known a President of the United States, not excepting Mr.
Cleveland, who has interfered less with the legislative business of the Congress, or with the action of the House or the Senate, than the present incumbent of that office." that the Senaic will act favorably upon the nomination, and the Democrats are far from despatring of being able to defeat confirmation. It is absolutely certain that many of the Republicans of the Senate do not want the negro to serve as collector of the port, and as the election will have passed by that time the Democrats think that they may be able to liduce several of the opposition to unite with them in defeating confirmation.

tion.

It is admitted, however, that Mr. Roosevelt has played a skilful game in making the bluff of a threat of an extra session if the nomination was not acted upon before Congress adjourned, and of reappointing the darkey so promptly after adjournment. He does not eare that he has made friends of the negro of the South, but he wants the votes of the black men in New York, illinois and indiana, where they almost held the blance of power, and there is no doubt that he has made the strongest possible bid for it.

There was a strong demand for revision of the immigration laws.

Many bills on this subject were introduced. Not one of them was ever reported, though nearly every official of the government, having to do with immigrants to this country, is urging that conciling be done to protect us against omething be done to protect us against the tremendous influx of undesirable people from Europe.

THE SMOOT INVESTIGATION The question of the eligibility of Sena-tor Smoot to a seat in the Senate was

The question of the eligibility of Senator Smoot to a seat in the Senate was raised over a year ago when he was sworn in. This Congress postponed until well clong into this sessien any investigation of the charges made against him, and then, after probing for some days in most leisurely fashion, the Committee on Privileges and Elections determined to allow the entire matter to go over until next winter—after the election.

The list of matters demanding the action of Congress, which were neglected, might be swollen into a column more. United States Judge Swayne, of Florida, was reported by the Judiciary Committee of the House to be guilty of gross malfeasance and misfeasance, and his impeachment was demanded, but the House decided that the work should be put off until after the election. And sp with many other things, duties that were pressing, the fulfillinent of solemn party pledges, all were neglected, all were postponed until the next session—until "after election."

poned until the next session—until "atter election."

NOTHING BUT APPROPRIATION BILLS.

In those last three words lie all the trouble—"after the election." There has never been a more consistent exhibition of political cowardlec than the majority in Congress has displayed throughout the session. It has refused to allow any legislation whatever which could have the slightest tendency to make any section of the American electorate question the wisdom of the congressional action. As I stated in the beginning, all that Congress has done has been to enact the usual appropriation bills, and it has taken the better part of six months to do that.

A judicial, dispassionate survey of the work of the first session of the Fifty-eighth Congress must convince any one that for absolute failure to perform that which was expected of it, and expected because of pledges made to the voters, which chose it, has been disappointing in every single particular without any exception whatever.

Alleges Consular Officials Are Guilty of Gross Immorality. (By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—

Charges of gross immorality on the part of consular officials located in Liberia were made by Miss A. A. Klein, one of were made by Miss A. A. Kiein, one of the speakers at to-day's session of the Florence Crittenden Mission, in a talk on "Preventive and Rescue Work for Girls in Africa." Miss Kiein has been in Liberia as a missionary of the Lutheran Church, stationed at Mishenberg, but almost infinitely removed, she explained, from the civilization of that city. She said foreign consuls, when on their way to the interior on business, frequently stop at her mission station, where she said they would speak lightly of their excesses. Criminal assault was common. Miss Klein declared the natives, at least in the vicinity where she was stationed, uphold a high standard of morals, and the ratives live closely of morals, and the natives live closely according to the Mosaic laws. The condition she described, she said, had greatly impeded the work of the missionaries. Miss Klein specifically exempted the Rev. Ernest Lyon, the United States consul at Monrovia, the capital, from the charge against the other consular officials, and paid a high tribute to him. officials, and paid a high tribute to him.

Miss Ellen Spercer Mussey, of Washington. D. C., discussed "State Laws Pertaining to Illigithmacy." One great defect in the laws of many States, she said, is that an illigitimate child cannot

COLLEGE GAME FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Richmond Boys to Play in Williamsburg To-morrow.

Richmond College and William and Mary will play in Williamsburg to-mor-row for the base-ball championship of the eastern division of Virginia.

This game will be full of interest to all college men and those interested in college base-ball, for this game will deelde whether Richmond can win the cup-Randolph-Macon has defeated William Randolph-Macon has defeated William and Mary and should Richmond College be defeated to-morrow it is very probable that she will not get the cup, even if she defeats Randolph-Macon in Richmond's defeat Staurday following. Richmond's defeat Staurday would entail a good many complications, and would probably necessitate several more games being played, so she is determined to win and avoid the trouble. William and Mary realizes that this is her last chance and is equally determined to stay in to the last, so a most exicting game is expected. An excursion will be run to Williamsburg Saturday, and those who go will have an opportunity of seeing the ancient capital, and also the game. It is understood that the Woman's College will go down in a body, also the malority of college students will attend, and the rooting promises to be one of the greatest features of the day.

The Field Day Committee has decided to postpone Field Day until Monday, May 5th, on account of the recent cold worther. The students are training daily and the events this year promise to be of unusual interest. Relay races will add a great deal to an otherwise attractive list of events.
